Jerry Welsh was previously the CEO and Chairman of the Board of the U.S. entity of ICEYE, a Synthetic Aperture Radar (SAR) space company. Within 2.5 years, he and the team executed on a strategy to become a trusted provider to the U.S. Government (USG) and a leading provider of SAR imagery. Prior to the ICEYE US role, he was CFO/COO of ICEYE Global and was involved in the development of its strategic growth of the company. He also helped grow the company globally from 35 to 500 people and raise $120M in Series B & C funding.

Jerry is currently the founder and CEO of Exec One, a company that provides advisory services to businesses seeking to expand their services and capabilities to cater to US Government customers. As a business owner, this gives him the flexibility to also serve on boards, provide executive coaching, and give back through mentoring to startup CEOs and founders. He has also served as a non-paid mentor for Techstars Space Accelerator for the past five years.

Jerry started his career as a CPA at Deloitte and obtained his MBA from UCLA Anderson. He has helped raise over $200M in venture capital across three companies; two were successful exits, and the third is valued as a "Soonicorn." He is a member of the Private Directors Association and maintains a certification in Private Company Governance.
